Letter of recommendation for Adam Fry

To Whom It May Concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend Adam Fry, who has been an invaluable asset to Hacker Dojo. Through his initiative and technical skill, Fry saved the Dojo an estimated $10,000 in setup fees.

When we moved to our new location, Fry installed all of the wiring throughout the ceiling of our 11,000-square-foot facility, installed our new Ubiquiti networking equipment, and set up our security access and camera systems. His work laid the foundation for the infrastructure our community relies on every day.

Equally important, Fry led the Wi-Fi installation throughout the new space. He first surveyed the space with Ekahau and wrote a network plan with priced options, an equipment list, and a cutover order. He then managed several volunteers, determined where units would be placed, and set up the telco room with some of the most exquisite cable wiring I have ever seen, all while keeping our Project Manager and Board informed at every stage. He stayed focused throughout and carried the project to a successful finish. The new Wi-Fi 7 network replaced our old Fortinet network, supports older devices, handles events of 100 to 200 people, and keeps member, guest, and management traffic separate.

Beyond our facility, Fry made my introduction to Claude possible by setting up my computer system and walking me through the nuances of creating a profile and learning to use this tool. As an executive of Hacker Dojo, I consider gaining valuable AI knowledge a must, and he made this a seamless and easy transition for me.

I find Fry to be highly competent, trustworthy, and dependable, and I recommend him without reservation. He would be a tremendous asset to any organization fortunate enough to have him. Please feel free to contact me at Eva.Carrender@HackerDojo.com if you have any questions.

Sincerely,
